

Broadmouth Canyon Ranch

Former all-pro defensive end with the Denver Broncos, Rulon Jones, hits the mark with the premier hunting experience.

The sun broke over the distant Teton Mountains casting a rosy glow over the pine and aspen covered valley that lay in front of me. A light dusting of snow had fallen the night before. We left our horses about a half mile from where we now were glassing. My guide, Jaden Allred occasionally lifted his grunt tube and let out a bugle. When I heard the elk's high shrill return bugle I knew I had not only found the premier elk hunting experience but this moment would be part of me forever. Later, as I watched my bull being caped next to the lodge, I thought about the morning excitement and what a great hunting experience Rulon Jones and his family had developed here in the heart of this magnificent elk country. The region has beauty beyond compare, the people are warm and friendly, and there are hunting opportunities for everyone. I knew then I would return next year to hunt mule deer and it would be with my full confidence that I could recommend this ranch to all.
